No problem. I don't know if they're hiring, but I'll find out.

What kind of job are you interested in doing?

Thanks man, you're the bomb!

Anything you think that I can do will be fine.

Can't you be a little more specific?

I wish I could, man but honestly any thing would be fine.

That bad,
ha?

Well, I'm learning to keep my chin up.

Good man. I'll talk to my boss in the morning and get back to you.

Thanks, man.
A friend in need is a friend indeed.

Of course.
Anything else you need me to do?

Z

Alright, take care.

No. I'm waiting to hear from you.

Yeah, you too.

EXPLANATION

A: What's up man?

B: Nothing much.

When you say nothing much in response to someone asking how you're doing.

It means "Nothing important".

B: How are you doing?

A: Better than I deserve.

When you are happy with how everything is going in your life, you can use that "Better than I deserve" or "Can't complain".

Can't complain means you're satisfied with how everything is going in your life.

"To what do I owe the pleasure?" This is a good way to ask why someone is calling.

To what do I owe the pleasure is used when you want to ask why someone is contacting you.

If we say "Why are you calling me?" That could be very rude.

It's like you're saying "I don't want to hear from you. Stop calling me".

EXPLANATION

“I was wondering if you could hook me up at the place you work”

Hook me up is a phrasal verb. It has several meanings.

In American English when you say hook someone up with something.

It means that you will give them something through your connection.

Your connection of people, or contacts.

“You’re the bomb!” When we say that something or someone is the bomb.

That’s slang for saying “you’re cool” - “You’re awesome” - “you’re great”.

“I’m learning to keep my chin up.”

To keep your chin up is an idiom that means “that you’re trying to remain happy, cheerful and to keep having hope especially in difficult times”.

CONVERSATION

Hey Mark. What's up man?

مرحباً مارك، كيف حالك.

Hi, Jack. Nothing much. How are you doing?

أهلاً، جاك. لا جديد عندي. كيف هي أحوالك؟

Better than I deserve. To what do I owe the pleasure?

كل شئ على أفضل حال. سرت بأتصالك.

I'm looking for a job. I was hoping you could help me.

أبحث عن وظيفة. كنت أتمنى أن تستطيع مساعدتي.

Sure, how can I help?

بالتأكيد، كيف يمكنني مساعدتك؟

Well, I was wondering if you could hook me up at the place you work.

حسناً، كنت أتسائل إن كان بإمكانك أن تتوسط لي للحصول على وظيفة في مكان عملك.

No problem. I don't know if they're hiring, but I'll find out.

ليست هناك مشكلة. لا أعلم إذا كانوا يقومون بالتعيين الأن، ولكنني سأتفقد ذلك.

Thanks man, you're the bomb!

شكرا لك يا رجل، أنت الأفضل على الأطلاق.

What kind of job are you interested in doing?

ما هي طبيعة العمل التي تهتم القيام بها؟

Anything you think that I can do will be fine.

أي شيء تعتقد أنني أستطيع فعله سيفي بالغرض.

Can't you be a little more specific?

هل يمكنك أن تكون أكثر تحديداً.

I wish I could, man but honestly any thing would be fine.

أتمنى لو كنت أستطيع، صدقني يا رجل أي شيء سيكون جيد بالنسبة لي.

That bad, ha?

اللهذه الدرجة، ها؟

Well, I'm learning to keep my chin up.

حسننا، مازلت أتمسك بالأمل.

Good man. I'll talk to my boss in the morning and get back to you.

جيد. سأتحدث إلى رئيسي بالعمل صباحاً ومن ثم سأخبرك

Thanks, man. A friend in need is a friend indeed.

شكراً يا رجل، الصديق وقت الضيق.

Of course. Anything else you need me to do?

بالتأكيد. هل هناك شئ آخر أستطيع مساعدتك به؟

No. I'm waiting to hear from you.

لا. في أنتظار ردك.

Alright, take care.

حسنناً، أعتني بنفسي.

Yeah, you too.

سأفعل، وأنت أيضاً.
